Make a Tax-Deductible Sponsorship or Donation

KESSA is a 501(c)(3) entity. This means we rely on the support of our generous community to fund enriching educational programs and support students participating in our professional events. You can learn more about how your support directly benefits our students. Consider donating funds or in kind to help disadvantaged students attend the conference.

We provide students with travel grants & support which allow them to participate in our annual conference. Our Annual conference includes student-focused sessions where students receive guidance and feedback on the art and science of communicating academic work to audiences from different backgrounds.
